One Year Ago This Week
by Dave Rogers

It's a little difficult to absorb the fact that an entire year has gone by – it was the week before Christmas a whole year ago, that we moved from south Texas to Fayetteville. Sally Wallace very kindly took us in and gave us a home during the holidays, showed us around town, put up with having her home turned “upside down” by our grandkids, helped us get Ben registered and enrolled in school, and generally made the transition much easier for us (thank you Sally!). Susie Graham patiently answered my blizzard of questions about where to find things, who to ask about this or that, and generally showed that she is not only an indispensable secretary and source of information, but a warm and generous coworker and friend as well. Greg Nash, in turn, has been a great encourager and a dependable coworker who has gone far out of his way to helpful and supportive, and I am truly grateful to call him my friend as well as a brother in Christ. Everyone else here embraced us as your own, making us feel that we were part of the congregational family from our very first day here, showering us with kindness and help of every sort. When we finally managed to get into our own house, it seemed as if brethren just “came out of the woodwork” to help us unload our furniture and other “stuff.” At every turn, you have made our transition from Texans to Georgians a delight!

Now we are about to enter another year; when I was a child, any year that started with “20” instead of “19” seemed impossibly far away, yet here we are! As a congregational family, we hope to begin this year by adding some new elders to our leadership; we can survey a 2014 calendar filled with activities and opportunities for us to grow spiritually and serve our Lord. Another year will bring us open doors to share the hope of salvation with friends, family, and coworkers. Let's make this a year of progress, increase, and close unity as a loving family.

To return to a more personal note, THANK YOU for all the love, care, generosity, encouragement, kindness, support, acceptance and fellowship each of you have extended to us this year. Because of you we have truly been “at home” from our very first day here, and we hope and pray for many, many more years of service together in our Lord’s kingdom. We love all of you very, very much!
